Self Expression Workshops

This month's focus is learning to express ourselves through writing and painting. The girls are welcome to attend GAP! on either or both days to participate in the workshops. Meg Daly, a Jackson native and professional writer, will be working with the girls on learning how to express themselves through different types of writing. Zanne deJanvier, a professional artist, will return from last year to help the girls express themselves through art. This four-week intensive activity will accumulate in a public March reception and a published girl's work. We hope the girls will participate in these activities for the full month.
